Community Reviews for this School

Bermudian Springs used to be a decent school but is now completely horrible. Drug use is outrageous, and the school has done nothing about it. The school now treats the students as prisoners, monitoring their every move, and have camera in every hallway. Also, even though the campus is a "tobacco free campus" faculty members use tobacco daily, but if students use tobacco they get punished to the full extent. What a great role model these adults are setting for our young adults.

It wasn't the worst. It wasn't the best. There was good teachers n then there wasn't. Sometimes the classes were a joke and others you learned something. There was never aa dull moment at Bern

There are many clubs to get involved in! When musical season comes around, more than half of the school will audition and the students are very committed to making sure everything goes well. When it comes to the musical being played, every night is commonly sold out. There is also Quiz Bowl, to which we have students that have won quite a few, with regular practices. There is Science Olympiad, Robotics, band, choir, and almost every student is committed in some way! Even the staff is very committed.

The teachers make a great effort in connecting with students! The lessons are engaging, and the teachers are understanding of the struggles that some students go through and take the time to help them. They are respectful to the students, and if a problem arises in the students life, the staff makes an effort to let them get back on their feet while still being responsible. The teaching styles vary, but they are all effective. The grading is very fair, in most cases!

While I dislike this school for my own experience for the most part, it still is great. What makes this school unique is that all groups clash, but in a good way! The jocks are in the musical, the nerds also play an instrument, things of that nature! However, I would not choose this school if I had to do it again. This is only because I had to move many times, and I prefer my old school over this one. This is because the school is larger and has more diversity in personalities than this one.
