Great Academics, College readiness. Good school district, smaller compared to other school districts in the area, good sports program, resources available to the children within the school district, administration and teachers do a good job, choices of different clubs & activities to get involved in. Recently updated some of their athletics fields. Some of the schools need updated within the school district, and they recently raised their taxes are the only cons I can think of about this school and the district.

York Suburban Senior High School as a whole, is a really good academic school. However, once you look in the inside, that's all it is. Straight academics. Sports and clubs have a good run going, but music and arts is pushed aside. The student body has poor mental health due to the academic strain. I love the people and teachers, they really do care.

Some great teachers but it is overall too pressured and test oriented. Scores above student happiness and well-being

The teachers and courses offered are all excellent. The school was given a blue ribbon award for academic success, and consistently ranks high among the other public schools in the areas. It is a smaller district than those in the surrounding areas, so you become very close with your own grade as well as other grades. We still have a strong music department in tandem with our athletics.

YSHS is nationally ranked for its stellar academic achievements and college readiness. Violence and crime in this school is unheard of. The high school takes great pride in its achievements and community. The school often reaches out to help those in need.
